J. D. gave the members present a report on the progress of the bicentennial run. He stated that despite the lack of support from AMCC clubs, with approximately 135 run participants, the run was progressing very well. J. D. reported that he expected the run to break even when all the bills were in. He also reported that the side-trip to Philadelphia had been cancelled due to lack of interest and excessive cost. The chairman of the bicentennial run also reported that the show in Atlantic City to be put on by the Washington Clubs would be opened to non-run people and profit would be used to help offset cost of the run. Also money made by hospitality suite would be given to the committee to defray expenses of run.

J. D. also announced the charges for non-run participants to attend various functions of the run which would be opened up to them.

The Links M. C. of Washington, D. C., was welcomed into the council by the president.

The council members present gave J. D. a very warm expression of thanks for the effort he has made in successfully organizing and executing the AMCC '76 bicentennial run.
