EMIL SOLIS, TREASURER

12/11/95

Dear Emil,

I know it is bad form and irresponsible to send money through the U.S. Mail, especially now with ^{the} services demonstrated ineptitude. I am taking a chance. However, the amount is minimal. Indeed, I was but completing a job that went a bit further than expected.

It's ^(coat checking) not easy work. Other club members overlook it, but always are careful not to do it. For this reason I hope that you will include our tip income on your published tally. Whether our contribution is based upon hard work, competency, courteous^{ness}, John C. (Pledge)'s bare torso, or all of the above, it will only be appreciated by the others if it is itemized. As a published item it will acknowledge the first-class job done by the Pledge (under my direction). And we were good.

What is the total at the checkroom now?
About $120⁰⁰? So, find enclosed $6.00 more.

Smile, the best of the SEASON to you. Marie

Gossip: John Hiltunen's arrival at the party (and coat check) was most welcome. Not only has he been absent from our tortured and sense meetings, ref. the proposed amendments, but he has been remarkably exclusionary about the amendments. (All of them are radically good, but none of them as presented, represents the input of any one of us outside the circle of Hiltunen, Hoffman, our pet hysterical Herbowitz and Jeanette. I don't mind one meeting per month (the Spartans do it and thrive) but I don't need a second "social" (!) meeting. I want to insist upon sponsors. I want a 2/3 majority of the membership ^{only} voting on key issues, not on 2/3 majority of folks is present. H., H., H., and J.'s unwillingness to entertain compromise made the amendments lengthy introduction a waste of time.)

It was patently clear that John H. was unhappy. I like him a lot and enjoy the sunshine that is in his smile, a reflection of a positive spirit. Rare and to be cherished.

So we will have to deal lovingly with his new clownishness.
