Captains Corner

Welcome to our new and revamped newsletter.

Entre Nous is celebrating our 35th anniversary this year. I am honored to service as Captain-President during this milestone.

As we reflect over the many years, the club decided to look to our past to plot our future. The newsletter is one such endeavor that was lost through the years. Our ability to communicate to you our friends, brother and sister clubs, associates, L'amis, honorary and past members is reliant on good and timely information. Reviving the newsletter is one step towards our goal.

We have been working hard at restoring a website, planning events and working on our 35th Anniversary celebration in October. We have events planned in Portland in March and P-town in April. Christmas in July will be revived as well.

Our members are traveling more this year to meet and greet our brothers and sisters. We had members in Philly over New Years, in Portland at the Harbormasters and St. Louis for Gateway. We have members going to Harrisburg, Long Island and Keelhaul.

We look forward to a year long celebration of our anniversary and hope you can join us to enjoy our latest milestone.

Brad H.
Captain-President
Entre Nous, Boston, MA

Editor's Note

This issue marks our celebration of our 35th anniversary. Nous Lettre was originally produced in the early years of the club and continued throughout the 1970s. The last known issue was printed in 1979. Nous Lettre was produced with the aim of connecting news and sharing info among its members and friends and the businesses with whom we associate. Our Nous Lettre will be printed quarterly. The re-issue of the Nous Lettre will remain similar in format with the main exception in its distribution. We will disseminate all issues Nous Lettre through e-mail.

As this is our 35th anniversary I am asking members, associates, friends and former members for any club-related photos since the club beginnings. I wish to compile a photo album in a future issue. I will also accept articles written by former members on their experiences with the club. Please note that we reserve the right to modify or reject any documents. Any photos/Photo-CDs that are submitted become property of the club unless requested for its return.

We have a Yahoo group site that is open for membership (please see the credit page in the front inside cover). We will post meeting times, runs and fundraisers info. The site has links to other organizations and their events. Please note that membership to the site does not grant membership to the club.

In Brotherhood,

Peter K.

Nous Lettre is the official quarterly publication of Entre Nous Inc. of Boston, Massachusetts. Its aim is to express the ideas and opinions of our members, associates and friends, both as a group and as individuals, and to provide you, our readers with informative and entertaining reading. We invite comments on articles herein. We welcome any and all constructive criticism and suggestions which might improve our Nous Lettre. All materials submitted for this Nous Lettre will become property of Entre Nous unless requested for its return. No part of this publication shall be reproduced without sole permission.

This e-mail issue of Nous Lettre is produced free of charge for our members, associates and friends. If anyone wishes to make a contribution to a future fundraiser, please contact us. We will gladly accept items such as gift certificates, passes, gifts, etc. Please contact us for any inquiries for advertising. We will be happy to announce your run/event in Nous Lettre. Please see "Chain of Events" for more information.

To get recent updates on our events and happenings, please visit our group site (membership access is free and required). Membership to the group site does not constitute membership to the organization. More information regarding this and more is available at the group site.

Mr. Boston Leather 2004

I wanted to take a minute and write a note about my year as Mr. Boston Leather 2004 and share it with you. It was an experience I will never forget. For those who know me, you know I have a very strong spiritual side to myself. But also, the journey into leather and the journey of my spiritual side have gone hand in hand. This past year was no exception.

There are some in the community who see title holders as leaders. But are title holder's leaders? If so, who do they lead if everybody doesn't see them as leaders? In preparing for the Mr. Boston contest I thought about this question and I came up with this option. My thoughts were that leather title holders were not leaders because the general public does not vote on anybody to have this title. Just a few well appointed people. Well, one of the reasons I wanted to run for this title was to show what I thought a title holder should do. So in a way I do lead... I lead by example. One of the reasons I wanted this title to accomplish what I wanted to do for my community. I didn't need the title to do those things, but has been a useful tool for me to accomplish my goals. Growing up my parents taught us the importance of community involvement. By not voting or getting involved in your community allows other to make decision for you, which you may not agree with. But also I see each and every one of us as leaders, we all lead by example. I encourage each and every one of you to become involved in your community, even if all you do is just the simple act of voting.

Over this past year I have done a few things.... I have raised money for the Leather Archives and Museum, formed a community round table meeting that I hope will remain on going, Made black flowers out of window screen for NELA's Fetish Ball, made latex costumes for the Theater Offensive Annual Fund Raising event (for the first time in my life I touched a woman's Breast making the costumes) I also assisted on an independent film "Just for Leather" as a set photographer and extra, had my website featured in a Japanese Magazine, and for most of this past year... I had flyers with my picture hanging over a urinal... advertising for the events I was doing (how many of you can say that?), but also, I have met a ton of wonderful people that I probably wouldn't have met if it wasn't for my title. One of those great people, recently has met with some health issues, and is now waiting on an organ transplant. If you are not already an organ donor I strongly encourage you to become one today by visiting www.organdonor.gov, and fill out a card. By becoming an organ donor you can give someone a new lease on life.

For years coming to the Mr. Boston contest I heard many of the other men who held this title on how the experience of competing at IML was this amazing, life changing experience, and well, nousey me had to go and find out what it was about. It was every bit the amazing experience they talked about. To coin a phrase on IML, it was like leatherman boot camp. Meeting 56 other men from all over the world, and experience what is known as the International Mr. Leather Competition. With the other men I competed with, no matter where we are, or how much time has past, we will always have this experience that will always bind us.

In closing, I would like to say how truly honored I am to have represented the New England Leather community in 2004.

Your brother in leather,

Scott Erickson

The Overlay

(Reprinted from the September 1976 issue of Nous Lettre, Paul C. editor)

A great deal of effort goes into dressing up the overlay. The sleeveless piece of denim becomes one's walking papers among the club scene. Every practical inch is bedecked with run pins, patches of every size and shape, pendants with miniature chain, name tags, a few studs here and there, not to mention the embroidered stitching to identify one's club - all that jazz makes up the standard overlay; to be worn at every club event, meeting, etc, etc.

But is it? We've gone through all the trouble to attend several runs, afford the traveling and run fees, willing to participate and work for a pin or patch, yet we forsake the overlay and fail to wear it at every opportunity.

It is all too easy to forget why it's important to wear the club colors. There should be identified as a choice member, not easily attained by others. It is disheartening to learn that many out-of-town fellows arrive into the city and fail to find anyone of us. The overlays are not worn often enough so that others may seek us out. It can be a very lonely experience for a weary traveling brother to arrive in a strange city, only to find no contact or something he can identify with as a reference point.

As noted in another leather magazine, some travelers arrived in Boston recently and found no one in any club overlays.

Let's restore pride in our club and ourselves as members. It's all a part of paying dues, going to meetings and wanting to belong to a fraternity. Wear that overlay when you can, not just to meetings but whenever you go to your favorite watering hole, or when you travel to another region. It just might be your ticket for more friendships and, in some cases, save your life. The club scene ought to be a particular group of guys who all share that pride. The overlay tells all. It took a lot of work to make it.

Aaah! Where's That Harness?!?!

Arriving in Boston and suddenly remembering you packed the harness in the other suitcase?

No problem! Make your way to

THE-PX shop located in the Ramrod, 1254 Boylston Street in the Fenway. THE-PX is a leather, rubber, fetish, bondage shop located at the back area of the Ramrod, Boston's best known leather bar. Jeff Hull is the shop's proprietor and I talked with him about his shop and wares. He sells leather vests, pants, chaps, harnesses, tees, hats, videos and various rubber gear. He also maintains his own website, www.the-px.com which shows similar and other merchandise. Not all things shown at the website are available at the store (and vice versa). You may wish to contact him for specific items (sales@the-px.com), and he does provide alterations with exceptions. His biggest sellers are cock rings and vests. He has operated THE-PX out of the Ramrod now for two and half years, but has been working on harnesses and the like for nearly ten years. Jeff offers 10% discounts for recognized member clubs and works with clubs functioning events at the Ramrod. For more information regarding discounts and sales of THE-PX goods at your leather/fetish/bondage event, please contact Jeff at sales@the-px.com or by phone at (508) 345-3621. THE-PX is open Thursdays through Sundays, 10:00 p.m.–2:00 a.m.
